BROOKLYN DEFALCATIONS. MR. M. T. EODMAN AND HIS FELLOW

ARITHMETICIANS. Addition. Division and Silence as Practised by Brooklyn Officials - A Combination Ar-Recommended by Gen. Butterfield - The Affidavits and Warrants of Arrest-The Arrest of Rodman Last Night.

The public men and leading politicians of Brooklyn were panic stricken yesterday and fed to cover like a flock of partridges when frightened. They were especially wary of news-The putative Ring men as well as the modern leaders were alike anxious to be considered anywhere else but in the city. One reer who made the rounds soon after midday sailed at the offices of the Mayor, the Comproller, the City Treasurer, and the Corporation counsel, and found the incumbents of each of mees absent, with no probability of either of them returning during the day. Mr. William C. Kingsley was out of town, Mr. Sam. itto, Mr. Alexander McCue ditto, and ditto on an endless list of gentlemen supposed cause of this remarkable exodus was popularly attributed to the developments made in THE er papers of yesterday regarding the es of the Deputy City Treasurer, ent opinion was that Mr. Rodman's

THE SINKING FUND.

The amounts speaken of by me do not embrace the money belonging to the sinking fund of the city. The City Treasurer, slithough one of the Commission. All moneys in the cais only of that Commission are, or should be, deposited with the Bracket of the Commission. All moneys in the cais only of that Commission are, or should be, deposited with the Bracket of Trias Company. Consequently the accounts of the City Treasurer do not embrace the moneys belonging to the sinking fund. But I did examine that account and found some very crooked things in it. I discovered that the moneys belonging to the commission have long been tampered with more or less by Rodman, the late Secretary of the Triast Company. But he had most expedicated so the principal of the fund, and there have remains only site a sum of from the fund, and there have remained only a feed and of from the standard and the same of Passicos already sites of the Commission had been supported by the sum of Passicos already sites of the Commission had been supported by money. C. G. KELSEY'S BOY FOUND. THE HUNTINGTON MYHERY ABOUT TO BE SOLVID.

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1873.

The Outrage Upon a Long sland Farmer-Seized by Masked Men ind Tarred and Feathered The Victim's Disappearance Portion of His Body found at Oysier

After a lapse of nearly in months there s at length more than a disant probability of clearing up the mystery atteding the murder, or, as some prefer to term if the " sudden disappearance" of Mr. Charles S. Kelsev, a young farmer of Huntington, L. I., on the night of the 4th of November, 1872. The ase of Mr. Kelsey was a peculiar one in many rays, although not peculiar in being unattended with the presence of the inevitable woman. Hiwes of good family, well educated, and possessed a moderate

Seven or eight years before the date of his disappearance he became namoured of Miss Julia Smith, a beautiful young lady of the vil-lage, and for the last two or three years of his life is alleged to have been too violent in press-ing his suit upon her. Miss Smith's friends say that she never encouraged his attentions, but, on the contrary, gently wged him to discontinue them. Debarred from visiting her, he took refuge in epistolary attacks, and, Miss Smith's friends say, wrote her a large number of grossly insulting letters which she had no means of resenting. During the last year of Mr. Kelsey's life Miss Smith became ENGAGED TO MR. BOYAL SAMMIS.

of Huntington, and when this became known to is said, Mr. Kelsey promised reform. Some months before the disappearance of Kelsey Mrs.

Reporter—That was the answer they made.
Alderman—And did they tell you he was out of town?

Reporter—That was the answer they made.
Alderman—On they ned, for I saw Faimer in his office not tenniquities ago.

Reporter—What did he say to you?
Alderman—On he said they were all right: that they only handled water rates, and pand that over daily to the City Treasury.

This may be accepted for what it is worth in contracted on of the prevalent rumor; but when the officials are so carreaul to keep out of the way as to deny their preschee in the city at the very time they are sitting in their offices it has a saspichus i sok which only agarayates the case against them.

There have been made to secure an investigation; but the same machinations that have prevalent rumors current regarding this department for a long time, and the form have been made to secure an investigation; but the same machinations that have prevalent of the following resolution in the Common Council:

these circumstances there could seemingly be namely, that the conspirators, fearing that Kelsey would revenge blinself on them through the medium of the law or otherwise, had followed him to his home, and lain in wait for him until as they probably supposed he would, he came down stairs after water with which to wash himself; that they attacked and overpowered him, he being too weak to offer more than a feeble resistance. This theory accounts for the wagon tracks, the articles found on the beach, and the mysterious movements of the two boatmen.

But this theory, while it was entertained by the vast majority of the citizens of Huntington, was socuted by another earty who held that Kelsey had voluntarily fied to hide his shame and disgrace from his relatives and friends. Prominent among those who held to this theory were the members of the First Pressylerian Church, to which Kelsey belonged, as do several of those who were indicted and held to ball on suspicion of having been concerned in the tarring and feathering.

THE INVESTIGATION BEFORE JUSTICE MONTFORT.

THE INVESTIGATION BEFORE JUSTICE MONTFORT.

Soon after the disappearance, Henry F, Kelsey, the brother of Charles G, complained before Justice Montfort, and allering that his brother had been murdered, demanded an investigation. At his request, and upon his affidavit, Justice Montfort summoned Dr. George B. Banks, Royal, John and David Sammis. Claudius B. and Arthur Prince, and many others who were supposed to have witnessed the deed, and held assecret investigation.

To this Royal Sammis, Dr. Banks, and others demurred, and went so far on more than one occasion as a attempt to interfere with the Justice. The lustice, however, carried his point, and the result of the examination was the indictment of Dr. Banks, Royal Sammis, and others for rot and assault. The trial was set down for the loth of September, but by an order from Judge Barnard recently issued the case was transfered to the Court of Oyer and Terminer, which will meet in October.

his watch, which was found there the next morning without a chain. They were positive in their identification of the chain. As yet Coroner Baylis has made a very imperfect ex-amination of the remains, deferring that duty until this morning, when he will hold an in-quest.

CONFIRMATION OF THE THEORY OF MURDER. As confirmation of the theory advanced at the time of Kelsey's disappearance, it may be here mentioned that the body was found nearly opposite Lloyd's Beach, the noint at which James Hood saw the two mysterious men in a boat on the night of the murder. It is thought that the body was heavily weighted, and that the fish having eaten the trunk, the legs were relieved from the weight which held them to the bottom. In further confirmation of the theory of murder is the fact that the portions of the body remaining show undubitable signs of cruel mutilation. EXCITEMENT IN HUNTINGTON.

The news of the finding of the body threw the village into a state of most intense excitement, and once more revived the discussion of the case. There is no doubt in the minds of the majority of the people of Huntington, and in fact of the whole of Suffolk county, where the mystery has been almost daily canvassed for the past ten months, that the remains are those of Charles G. Kelsey. The inquest to-day will be the best attended probably ever held on Long Island.

Hundreds of Vessels Wrecked and Scores of Buildings Destroyed-Heavy Loss of Life -The Damage Among the Millions.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 29 .- Mail and telegraph details of the great storm are constantly received. The destruction of life and property on land and sea is frightful, and far exceeds the estimates heretofore made. From all sections there are reports of houses and barns having been blown down, crops destroyed, and cattle killed. Such fearful havoc has not been known in Nova Scotia and Cape Breton for the past thirty years. No accurate notion of the loss, both to land property and shipping, can be both to land property and shipping, can be found, but it will in all probability reach several million dollars. Already many lives are known to have been lost. There is reason to believe that many vessels were lost at sea with all on board.

The fishermen on the eastern coast of the Province have suffered severely, all having lost their boats, fishing tackle, &c., from Guysboro to Cape Camo. Vessels arriving in Italifax within the past few days say that they passed large quantities of wrecked stuff at sea. Capt. Leonard of Main-a-Dien was drowned in the bay. James Jerrot was drowned at North Sydney. In Guysboro county the destruction was immense. Several new houses were blown down or injured; old ones were unroofed or stripped of their shingles; barns were razed in every direction and unroofed; fences were prostrated everywhere; and everything movable was twisted, turned, and tumbled about.

The President of a German Republican Club

said to be an Escaped Convict. Last evening, at the meeting of the German Republican Central Organization in the enth Ward Hotel, Broome and Forsyth streets, Mr. Doenges made an accusation against the President, William Gellmann. He said that Mr. President, William Gellmann. He said that Mr. Gellmann was reported to be an escaped convict from Germany, where he had been sentenced to three and one-half years in prison for defrauding widows and orphans.

Mr. Gellmann said that eight years ago similar rumors had been circulated against him, but he never found occasion to confate them. The Vice-President of the organization. J Unger, said he had seen German papers of 1862, in which was an order of committal directed against Mr. Gellman, and he urged that an investigation was due to the society as well as the President.

The Farmers of the West Invited to Cooperate with the Mechanics of the East-What the Workingmen's Unions are Doing In response to a call sent out by the Workingmen's Central Council, the great hall of the Cooper Institute was last night filled to overflowing by the artisans and laborers of New York, who assembled in mass meeting to pro-test against the injustice done them by the persistent refusal of the capitalists to grant to the workingmen the rights and privileges given them by the enactment of the Eight-Hour law. The meeting was noticeable for its perfectly decorous manner.

The men were evidently in earnest, and no time was wasted in idle debate.

Mr. James Connelly presided, and briefly stated the object of the meeting, expressing a hope that the present meeting would not result, as too many others had resulted, in the men going that the present meeting would not result, as too many others had resulted, in the men going home, after making a number of bombastic speeches and passing resolutions never to be enforced, to forget the objects for which they had met in council.

Mr. Geo. Blair, the Secretary, read resolutions protesting against the manner in which the Eight-hour law had been evaded by the Capitol Commissioners in the erection of the Capitol Commissioners in the erection of the Capitol building at Albany, and also against their letting out the greater portion by contract to persons who were instrumental in having the money appropriated for the building. It was further resolved to demand the immediate purchase of the gas works by the Government, so that the people may be supplied with light at cost, as they are with water; also that the contract system in the prisons be abolished, and that such articles as are manufactured in prison shall not be sold below their market value, so that prison labor may not injure outside produce.

Mr. Osborn spoke briefly to the resolutions, urging the necessity for a bond of union between the agriculturists of the West and the great trades unions of the East. Whatever might be said to the contrary by superficial thinkers, there could be no doubt that a solidarity of trades was a vital necessity for artisans and laborers, without which their rights and licerties could never be preserved.

Mr. R. H. Furguson, President of the American Cheap Transportation Society, addressed the meeting. He said that consumers should own their own lines of transport, and bring supplies from the West at cost. All great transport monopolies, he said, in increasing the rates of carriage whenever they felt so disposed, simply increased the price of provisions. The farmer who had to p. y a heavier rate to send his goods to New York this year than he had last, found it necessary to increase his prices proportionately. In centurion, the speaker recommended cooperative industry.

THE TRAFFIC IN BUMAN BODIES. Investigation of the Philadelphia Morgue Horror-The City Sextons' Confessions.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 29 .- A further earing was had this afternoon in the case of Deputy Coroner Sees and Superintendent of the Morgue Baxter, charged with selling the body of Thomas Munce, which was found in the Medical University. obeyed, the allegation being that the books were the private property of Coroner Brown, who is away from the city.

William Taylor, superintendent of the city burial ground, produced a book and showed an entry, dated July 4, of an unknown body which was taken to the University College. After cross-examination Taylor admitted that he gave a certificate that this body had been buried, and when a question was asked as to the time of making the entry in the book he said it was only yesterday.

He further admitted that he did not receive a body on the 4th, and no interment took place; that the certificate was given to the Health Officer, and that as it was, it was a lie. Taylor further testified that he sent a receipt for the body to Coroner Brown.

The Janitor of the University testified to conversing with Baxter, who said he intended to run two bodies in from the Morgue. Could not swear that this conversation occurred on the 4th. Dr. Hodge testified that the law gives to colleges unclaimed bodies to be used for scientific purposes; consulting with Coroner Brown when he first went into the office, that officer referred witness for the execution of the law to his undertaker, Wim. H. Edgar.

Commissioner Pugh referred him to Baxter and the Superintendent of the burial ground. Witness told these men that trafficking in bodies was heavy, and that nothing of the kind would be allowed. He paid Edgar $15 on July 9 for the transportation of two bodies on the 2d of July and on the 5th.

The witness further testified that there was a sallowed. He paid Edgar $15 on July 9 for the transportation of two bodies on the 2d of ally and on the 5th.

THE HORSES AGAIN IN PERIL.

Contractors' Animais Dying of Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis. Within the past few days a fatal disease has appeared in several of the large contractors' stables in this city. On Wednesday the horses in the stable of Mr. Boshm, contractor of 100th street, were seized, and within forty-eight hours ten out of his stock of thirteen died in agony. Yesterday two more died, and the remaining anima, a favorite buggy horse, is very sick. As soon as this was known in the neighborhood the stable owners became greatly excited and veterinary surgeons were called in. After consultation, three of Mr. Beehm's horses were taken to the rendering wharf, and there the bodies were opened and examined. Drs. Copeman and Fair found the membranes of the brain badly congested, of a dark color, and of a jelly-like consistence.

Yesterday afternoon, Dr. Liantard, of the New York Veterinary College, Veterinary Surgeon to the American Society for the Frevention of Cruelty to Animals.made an examination of one of the deceased animals, at the request of Mr. Bergh. He pronounced the cause of death cerebro-spinal menigitis. At first it was supposed that the animals had been poisoned, but Dr. Liantard reports that there is no evidence of poison. Seven mules also have died this week of this disease.

The stables of the Third avenue and other horse railroad companies were visited last evening. The horses were found in excellent health, and no symptoms of cerebro-spinal meningitis have been noticed. In the epidemic of two years ago the first horse railroad affected was the Second avenue. But they are excitant over the present good health of their horses.

WILKESBARIE. Pa., Aug. 29.—The news has reached here of a murder committed last night at East Nanticoke, eight miles below here. The particulars, as far as could be learned, are that John McCarl, a carpenter, and Joseph Sheen had been on a spree, and at a late hour on Thursday night left Shay's Hotel together. Soon afterward they were heard to quarrel, and then several shots were fired. It being so late and cark no search was made until this morning, when McCarl's body was found with three builets through the head, life having been extinct some hours. Sheen was arrested shortly afterward, and is now in the county jail.

England's Competitor for the Control of the Iron Trame. London, Aug. 29.-The Times this morning has an editorial on the iron question, the burden of which is, that one of the finest markets England ever possessed (the trade in iron) is being gradually closed to her. Her disasters in this direction are not yet ended. The United in this direction are not yet ended. The United States are competing successfully for the control of the iron traffic with Canada, South America, and the West Indies. They have contested under immense natural disadvantages, but they have beaten England in spite of these. She can not afford to idle and sleep away her time and waste her money while competing with thrifty, active, and intelligent nations. The Times thinks much of the blame for the state of things it describes should fell upon strikers and Trade Unions.

Unions. A Botter Explosion in Sweden. STOCKHOLM, Aug. 29.—The boiler of a flax mill at Hilloroed, Sweden, exploded to-day with terrific force, destroying the mill and adjoining shops. The Addition, Division and Silence in the Long Island City Water Works.

The Investigating Committee of the Long Island City Common Council continued the Water Board inquiry yesterday. Judge Pearse was recalled. The necessary books and papers were produced, and when Judge Pearse's memory proved treacherous reference soon put it right. He was first questioned as reference soon put it right. He was first questioned as to the Issuing of the bonds, and he said that by resolution of the Board, approved of by the Common Council, $25,000 was Issued. At that time money was very tight, and the bonds could not be disposed of in such small sums. The Water Board, therefore, authorized the Mayor to Issue the full amount of $300,000, but that was not submitted to the Common Council. The witness a City Judge: considered such an Issue legal, but as a lawyer declined to give an opinion. He voted for the payment of $12,300 cash and bonds for $30,000 to the Holly Company and thought it was in compliance with the provisions of the charter, sithough no material had been furnished. Had seen Holly works in operation only casually. Had taiked to many about the works. Examined Gosman's farm and always knew there was a good supply of water there. The Board had employed no expert as to the value of the land. Knew that the Mayor was hot doing right in signing the contract, but would not advice associates. The first purchase of land made was the Gosman property. First saw record of experts to report in papers or on hill. Never told any of actual value.
